Packaging Improvement for all WeatherStation® Instruments

Airmar has modified the packaging process of our WeatherStation models. Effective in September 2010, we will begin shipping PB150, LB150, and PB200's with a molded, recycled-plastic insert. The new package provides a more professional appearance. The construction of the sensor remains unchanged and adheres to the existing specifications, therefore no product qualification is needed. The images below show the difference in appearance between the existing and new packaging.
